CABINET MINISTER IS PUT UNDER ARREST

Gen. Araki Gives Up Post As the Chief of Japan's War Ministry

Ill-health Stated as Reason For Retirement of Man Whole World Watched During Manchurian Campaign; Anti-Militarist Movement May Now Gain in Kingdom, Say Observers

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Tokio, Jan. 22.—Gen. Sadao Araki, who in the eyes of the world personified the militant spirit with which the Japanese nation has been imbued in the last two years, relinquished the portfolio of Minister of War to-day and at least temporarily retired from the political stage.

Premier Saito, after fully urging the bed-ridden war lord to reconsider, accepted his resignation. Afterward, the Premier acquiesced in the recommendation of members of an informal conference of high ranking military leaders that General Senjuro Hayashi succeed Gen. Araki. General Jinzaburo Masaki, a member of the Supreme War Council, was chosen to succeed Gen. Hayashi as inspector-general of military education.

Among Japanese political writers and non-Japanese military experts strong opinion prevailed that Gen. Araki's retirement may be the signal for the long-suppressed Liberal anti-militarist movement again to lift its head. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

MOSCOW SENSES JAPAN ATTACK

Moscow Leader Gives Warning; U.S. Legislators Debate Big Naval Increase

Associated Press
Moscow, Jan. 22.—A warning that "we must be prepared for an attack at any moment from Japan" was sounded by I. M. Maganovitch, head of the Moscow Communist Party and member of the Soviet Central Executive Committee, in a speech at a party conference January 17, the text of which was made public to-day.

"Conditions are very tense in the Far East to-day," M. Maganovitch said. "We have told Japan that if you want to seize the Chinese Eastern Railway it won't be so easy and will cause a serious conflict."
"At the same time we are not seeking war with Japan," the leader continued, "and want to keep peace."
"If Japanese generals dare plot against our frontiers, they will feel the might and power of our red army."

U.S. NAVAL PLANS

Washington, Jan. 22.—Chairman Vinson of the United States naval committee predicted to-day that Japan would insist on a fleet as big as that of the United States when the present treaties expire, and asked approval of a $380,000,000 United States naval building program.

A United States navy near London treaty limits on completion of its present program was pictured by the House of Representatives appropriations committee in reporting a $384,747,000 naval supply bill.

Taking issue with statements by Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, that the condition of the fleet was not satisfactory, the committee reported construction under way which "on completion will bring us current with treaty limitations in all combatant categories, completely discounting average tonnage."

The committee provided for an increase of 2,800 enlisted naval, and 1,000 marine personnel.

The measure is $22,922,000 less than the current appropriations and $1,583,000 below budget estimates. Transfers of unused funds totaled $9,089,000, however, will bring the actual cash withdrawals from the treasury for the navy to $293,853,000.

The National Unemployed Workers' Movement, a branch of the British Communist Party, organized the march and claimed it would be joined by contingents from all England. These said the organization would converge on Hyde Park February 25 for a demonstration of 20,000 persons.

Rain Already Above Average

With Ten Days Still To Go, January Rainfall One Inch More Than Average

Already Victoria has had an inch more rain than usual this month, according to a report this morning by F. Napier Denison, superintendent at the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill. But this island alone is not suffering from an abundance of moisture. All through the southern portion of the province, in the Puget Sound country and southwards through Oregon to the California border heavy rain is reported with floods in the low-lying districts.

Victoria's average rainfall for January is 4.23 inches. Up to 8 o'clock this morning a total of 5.23 inches had fallen since New Year's Day. But the rain here is keeping the weather mild, and the city may get through the winter without a cold snap. So far this season there have been only a few frosty mornings. Bright sunshine for several hours yesterday helped along the gardens, many of which are boasting spring flowers.

Far up in Alaska and the Yukon it is turning cold again, with temperatures of sixty-four below zero in many places. The weather is severe on the prairies, after a mild spell. Zero temperatures prevail in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. There is considerable snow at Prince Rupert.

Shot Sea Lion At Cordova Bay

Twenty Shots Needed Before Mammal Brought to Beach By Tom Gelling

After a stiff battle, during which twenty shots were fired, a 1,400-pound sea lion was shot this morning at Cordova Bay by Tom Gelling. The sea lion was swimming about 200 yards off the beach when Mr. Gelling observed it and went for his gun. After the first few shots the sea lion commenced to drift on the tide towards the shore, but it was not until Mr. Gelling had fired twenty shots that it was dead.

Ernest H. Clark Has Camera With Him at Cordova Bay; Sea Serpent Comes Up Among Ducks But Gets Away Before He Is Photographed

With a camera slung beneath his arm, Ernest H. Clark, 2370 Windsor Road, strolled down to the beach at Cordova Bay one day last week with the vague idea in his mind that he might see "Caddy," the sea serpent, and photograph him. He had been looking seaward only a few minutes when a large head broke water among a flock of ducks. The ducks scattered as the head began to move. They seemed to know they were in danger, said Mr. Clark to The Times this morning. "That's the trouble," he said, "that this happening makes me look a bit slow, because I did not get the picture I wanted."

ONE OF LAST WEEK'S SUPERB SUNSETS

Victoria has been deluged with much rain this winter but on occasions the sun has pierced the clouds and the sunsets have been remarkable. Ken McAllister of the Savannah Studio took this unusually fine picture of a sunset one evening last week. The masts of fishing boats are in the foreground and the once-famous pier, Princess Victoria rises out of the haze.

New Superintendent Put in Charge After Magistrate Finds "Deplorable" Conditions and Recommends Staff Be Changed

Canadian Press
St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 22.—Dr. T. Anderson, superintendent of the Hospital for the Insane, to-day took administrative control of the Poor Asylum and Newfoundland Infirmary, where Magistrate A. Vatcher said he had discovered deplorable conditions.

Magistrate Vatcher recommended dismissal of "the present staff nurse, the day nurse, all male attendants and so-called probation nurses." The findings, made after an extensive investigation into administration of the institution, condemn the conduct of members of the staff, and charge the male superintendent spent much of his time in the matrons' room, often behind locked doors.

The report said its author found the staff nurse "possessed a lot of ability and of strong character; that she was fond of drink and a good time generally."

The report also suggested goods were removed from the institution, while one witness swore he had seen an attendant remove money from the purse of a dying inmate.

Governor's Son In Auto Crash

Viscount Duncannon in Smash in England in Which Companion Killed

Canadian Press
Huntingdon, Eng., Jan. 22.—Viscount Duncannon, heir of the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, had recovered to-day from effects of an automobile accident Sunday in which one of his companions was killed and another injured seriously but not critically.

Authorities revealed the man who lost his life was Albert Ullrich Surprenant, a native of Providence, R.I., where a brother now lives.

At first it was believed the man killed was a native of France. Authorities attempted to withhold the name while attempts were made to break the news gently to his family there.

The accident occurred during a drive from Viscount Mandeville's summer estate near Brampton Park to Kimbolton Castle. Lord Mandeville was in one car and Viscount Duncannon was driving behind him with three friends. As Lord Duncannon attempted to make a sharp turn on a hill his car apparently went into a skid. It turned over several times, throwing the occupants out on the road.

"GAS MAN" MAKES RAIDS IN VIRGINIA

Finestale, Va., Jan. 22.—"The Gas Man" has come to have a sinister meaning to farmers' families in Botetourt County, Va., where there are no meters to read. Doors and windows are securely locked at night and men with shotguns ready keep nocturnal watch over their homes to guard against the stealthy marauder who hurls gas into rooms, where sleeping families are overcome or made violently ill.

The motive is not known. Investigators believe the attacks to be the work of a demented person.

HOPES RENEWED FOR FREEING OF MAN HELD BY ABDUCTORS

Activity of Bremer Family and Police in St. Paul, Minn., May Mean $200,000 Will Bring Release of E. G. Bremer

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—Unusual activity by police and members of the Bremer family to-day provoked renewed speculation over whether contact with the abductors of E. G. Bremer, wealthy banker, abducted for $200,000 ransom, was impending.

Walter Magee, friend of the Bremers, could not be found. He is the man who received the first and only note from the kidnapers shortly after Bremer was seized about 8.30 a.m. last Wednesday.

SENSATIONAL MOVE MADE IN NEWFOUNDLAND

DR. W. H. GADDES LEAVES OFFICE

Post of Chairman of Colonization Board Abolished For New Scheme

Col. W. S. Latta Will Return to Victoria From Vancouver

Resignation of Dr. W. H. Gaddes, chairman of the Colonization Board, was announced this morning by Hon. Wells Gray, acting Premier. The resignation takes effect immediately.

The Colonization Board office in Vancouver will be abolished, and the information it supplied will in future be given through the office of the government agent, Col. W. S. Latta, who was in the same office, doing work for the Land Settlement Board in connection with relief cases, will be moved back to Victoria, where he will carry with him the same duties. Both Dr. Gaddes and Col. W. S. Latta have been working half time for several months. The announcement follows comments made by Mr. Gray, who is Minister of Lands, in New Westminster recently, that the Colonization Board would be abolished. Other plans of land settlement in British Columbia have been discussed by the minister on several occasions.

EASING OF TAX BURDEN URGED

Canadian Press
Toronto, Jan. 22.—Members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce board of directors from coast to coast were in Toronto to-day, attending the meeting of the chamber's national committee on sound public finance. Sir Henry Drayton presided.

Plans will be matured for the chamber's 1934 programme in connection with its campaign for sound public finance, balanced budgets, curtailment of government expenditures and lessening of the tax burden. The committee is intended to investigate all angles of finance with the object of having government affairs handled in the manner large businesses are managed.

Mr. George murmured: "Mm-m. I've heard that voice somewhere before. Let me see now..." The singing stopped. The announcement came.

TOTAL VOTE CAST IN B.C. ELECTION

Figures compiled by the Provincial Secretary's Department show that although there were 78,308 more registered voters, only 19,241 more votes were cast in the last general provincial election. The total vote in the last election was 381,055, with 323,548 registered voters. In 1928 there were 245,240 registered voters and the total vote cast was 361,811. Rural voting accounts for the greater number of votes than voters.

Hon. W. J. Walsh, Minister of Agriculture, Arrested on Charge of Stealing Part of Great Collection of Stamps, Released on Bail and Immediately Resigns His Portfolio

Half of $120,000 Groups Missing

Canadian Press

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 22.—Hon. W. J. Walsh resigned to-day as Newfoundland's Minister of Agriculture and Mines shortly after he had been arrested on a larceny charge arising from the disappearance of stamps valued at thousands of dollars from the Newfoundland museum.

Released on $4,000 bail, the minister sent his resignation soon after to Governor Sir David Murray Anderson. It was accepted immediately.

Mr. Walsh was arrested to-day, charged with appropriating three bound volumes of unused stamps from the closed Newfoundland Museum. The museum had been closed to the general public for more than three years, but the office of the Department of Agriculture were in the same building, on the floor above the room in which the stamps were kept.

Stamps purported to have been taken by the minister were valued at between $5,000 and $6,000. They formed part of the government's $120,000 collection of stamps of various nations, about half of which had disappeared. Government investigators have been probing the mysterious disappearance since it was first disclosed weeks ago. The thefts, apparently, had been spread over a long period, extending from 1920, when the museum was closed.

Stamps of an undetermined value were taken also from the St. John's post office. The collection, gathered from all parts of the world for almost a half century, had been stored in the two buildings.

Proposed Wheat Cut Is 4,000,000 Acres

Dominion and Provincial Governments Plan Campaign to Induce Farmers to Plant Less Wheat This Year

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Plans to lop nearly 4,000,000 acres off the area sown to wheat in Canada during 1934 are being studied by agricultural and legal officers of the Dominion Government. Canada's obligations under the world wheat agreement were discussed at the close of the Dominion-Provincial conference by Premier Bennett and the Premiers of the three wheat-growing prairie provinces.

The wheat agreement, signed by Mr. Bennett in London last summer, requires this country to reduce its acreage sown to wheat by fifteen per cent.

Last year Canada's total wheat acreage was 25,432,100, and of this the three prairie provinces had 23,177,000 acres.

Owing to Canada's federal constitution and the fact no bonus is paid wheat farmers, bringing about the desired reduction presents both legal and practical difficulties.

Two suggestions are under consideration—one a compulsory quota for each farmer and the other a limitation of the amount of wheat each farmer may sell. Either would likely require the sanction of both the Dominion Parliament and the legislatures of the provinces to make it binding in law.

At the moment, however, the government heads are hopeful of a substantial voluntary curtailment of wheat growing. In 1933 considerably less wheat was sown than in 1932, but the 1932 acreage on the prairies was the largest on record, 26,395,000.

Two other factors are expected to bring about a further cut, low prices and the inability of many farmers to replace worn-out machinery.

To aid them in bringing the curtailment up to fifteen per cent the provincial governments plan a propaganda campaign. Farmers will be urged by speakers and pamphlets to sow less wheat. The advantage of obtaining a higher price through co-operation with the other wheat-growing countries of the world in reducing the great wheat surplus will be stressed in messages carried to every corner of the prairie wheat lands.

FOREIGN MINISTER OF JAPAN TO-MORROW TO MAKE STATEMENT

At Reopening of Parliament M. Hirota Is Expected to Speak of Relations With United States

By Glenn Babb, Associated Press Foreign Staff Writer

Tokio, Jan. 22.—An expression of confidence the United States will eventually recognize Japan's role as a mainstay of peace and stability in eastern Asia was anticipated in authoritative circles to-day as a feature of Foreign Minister Koki Hirota's address at the re-opening of Parliament Tuesday.

Despite an unpleasant reaction here to a recent speech by Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the division of Far Eastern Affairs in the United States State Department, M. Hirota was expected to affirm a conviction that Japanese-American relations are improving.

(Mr. Hornbeck did not mention the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchukuo by name, but indicated United States policies with regard to the state in the assertion the Stimson formula of "non-recognition of governments made by the sword was still followed by the United States. A Japanese Foreign Office spokesman called the speech "unfortunate and untimely.")

AFTER HOLIDAY Its long New Year recess ended, the Diet will begin the actual work of its annual session when the two houses meet to hear M. Hirota expound the government's policies.

He also is expected to make the first official pronouncement on the empire's delicate relations with Soviet Russia and China.

Other speeches will be those of the Premier, Viscount Makoto Saito, on the state of the empire, especially the domestic situation, and of the Finance Minister, Komeiji Takahashi, on the government's 2,112,000,000 yen (currently about $333,600,000) budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1.

Viscount Saito is working at present on the issues of the swollen deficits of the army and navy and their domination of the imperial policy, thus producing a frontal clash with military chiefs and civilian politicians that is likely to endanger the life of the cabinet.

His references to Russo-Japanese relations, anything but friendly during the last six months, are awaited with especially keen interest.

VANCE STUDIES HUMAN ORGANS Heart, Liver and Lung Sections of Chinese Disease Victims Being Examined

Special to The Times Port Alberni, Jan. 22.—Following an autopsy yesterday on three beri victims, sections of heart, lungs, liver and other organs were sent to Inspector J. F. Vance in Vancouver for examination and report. The request was made last Wednesday, signed by Bremner in a shaky scrawl, it threatened death and demanded $200,000.

SEARCH FOR SANKY Washington, Jan. 22.—In its search for the abductors of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul the United States Government to-day intensified its long hunt for Verne Sankey, the former Canadian railroad engineer who was kidnapped in Denver for the kidnapping of Charles Boettcher.

Sankey's "judgment," cryptically returned to J. Edgar Hoover of the Justice Department when asked by reporters whether the orders were in direct connection with the Bremer case, also is wanted for questioning in connection with the kidnapping of Hazel Bohn of St. Paul.

LINDBERGH ECHO He is forty-two, a naturalized Canadian and has been mentioned at various times by law officers working on the case of Edward G. Bremer.

County Attorney M. F. Kinkead of St. Paul recently said the government wanted him in connection with that case, but justice officials refused comment.

Sankey's only conviction occurred in 1925 when he was fined $400 for a probation violation.

His full name is Rio Verne Sankey. Of stocky build, he has a ruddy complexion, blue eyes, light brown hair, bald in front, three small moles on the left side of his chin and a small scar on the back of one hand. He was a railroad engineer by occupation. Department of Justice information is that his wife, Fern May Sankey, lives at Denver, and that he has a brother, Frank, in Clark, S.D., and another brother, Joseph Floyd, at Watertown, S.D.

About 5 o'clock the following morning in Cornwall.

Several friends in Cornwall also heard the broadcast Mr. George has friends who are listening in the next village. Mullion is near The Lizard and is where the masts were raised for transmission of the first wireless message across the Atlantic Ocean.

RADIO FREAK In view of the limited power of fifty watts, on which station CFCT operates, the reception in Cornwall is considered somewhat of a radio freak. It is considered a coincidence that geographical conditions prevent good reception of the Victoria broadcast as close as Duncan and other up-land states, the same came through in Cornwall "very well." The distance from Victoria to Cornwall is approximately 6,000 miles.

As far as was known there was no rebroadcast of CFCT by short wave on the night in question.

The strangest feature of the whole thing, of course, is that Mr. George happened to tune in just when his cousin, Mr. Bray, was singing.

SENATOR FORKE GROWING WEAKER

Winnipeg, Jan. 22.—Senator Robert Forke, critically ill with heart trouble in a hospital here, continued unchanged to-day. He has been gradually growing weaker. The former "messenger of God," the Progressive Party in the House of Commons entered the hospital at New Year's.

SEATTLE MAN KILLS TWO SONS

Says He Had Vision of God and Was Told to Choke Devil Out of Them

Associated Press Seattle, Jan. 22.—A thirty-seven-year-old fisherman, Oskar Hestness, a self-styled "messenger of God," to-day was charged with first degree murder for strangling his two little sons.

Chief of Detectives Luke S. May said Hestness had given as his motive a "vision from God" ordering him to "choke the devil out of" the boys, John, ten, and Henry, four. Authorities to-day were studying the man's mental condition.

"I killed John first, last Tuesday," he was quoted as saying. "He came from the Pentecostal Temple, and I asked him who had sent him. He would not answer. Then I asked him, 'Who is in you?'"

"He said 'The devil is in me.' Then God appeared to me and he told me to choke the devil out of him."

He added he had killed Henry, Wednesday.

FOUND IN AUTO The bodies were found in the Hestness small four-room home Sunday, after the parents had been placed under arrest the previous night.

A minister, Rev. O. L. Haavik, of the Ballard First Lutheran Church, had found them in his garage, in possession of his car.

Hestness demanded Mr. Haavik turn over the keys to his automobile.

"The Lord told me to take the car, I am the second Elijah. I gave the way for the second Christ," he said.

The two were jailed at the minister's request for a sanity examination.

SANG PSALMS AND SHOUTED Hestness's religious fervor had been pronounced in recent weeks, neighbors said, with Psalm singing and shouting coming almost incessantly from their home.

The wife, Marie, aged thirty-five, confirmed her husband's confession, police said.

Telling of the death of his younger son, Hestness was quoted as having said:

"The next day (Wednesday) the devil got into his house again. I tried to close the door on him, but it failed. So I took Henry on my knee. He held his hands over his eyes and would not look at me. I knew the devil was in him, too. When I was through, I laid the body beside that of his brother."

"I saw about six feet of the head and neck but could see no bumps on his back, and to me it looked as if he had a squarish head. I watched him for a while, being just able to see the movement underneath as he dived after leaving the stocks. As he came nearer the first bay he came up again among some more ducks and sea gulls. Also some scattered far and wide as he looked above the surface."

"When he came up he turned his head around jerkily as though he was looking for something, and after the ducks and gulls had gone, he went down."

The incident referred to by Mr. Clark occurred on January 14 when he was visiting a friend at Cordova Bay. Mr. Clark was reticent at first to admit he had seen the serpent, but under persuasion finally agreed to add his name to the long list of those who are witnesses to the existence of the monster. His one regret is he cannot show a picture to conclusively prove his story.

Among intimate friends of the staff nurse, the report says, were men regarded as "gangsters," whom she "entertains in style, and takes what leave she desires."

Evidence showed, the report continued, bread for the patients was put thick to economize on butter, and "the blind had to feel very carefully to find which side was buttered. I consider the inmates have been disconcertingly treated in the matter of meals, as in other matters, but like poor dumb animals, they never had anyone to whom they could complain."

The asylum, an institution under control of the Newfoundland Public Works Department, houses ninety-eight male and sixty-seven female inmates, the island's most destitute charges, many of whom are senile or mentally deficient.

INSULL MUST LEAVE GREECE

Premier Makes That Plain; He Suggests He Go to Island of Rhodes

Associated Press Athens, Jan. 22.—Premier Panagiotis Tsaldaris to-day said Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities operator, must leave Greece, no matter what the Council of State may decide on his appeal for permission to remain here after January 31.

The general secretary of the Council of State said it had postponed indefinitely the calling of a secret session to consider Insull's plea.

Meanwhile rumors circulated that Insull is trying to persuade Italy to permit him to fly to the island of Rhodes for refuge from the United States authorities, who seek to return him to Chicago for an embezzlement trial.

Insull, it was said, would like to go to the Aegean island in the event his efforts to remain in Greece failed.

BEAUMHARNOIS SUIT LAUNCHED Canadian Press Montreal, Jan. 22.—Suits for $53,972.01 for "professional service rendered" in obtaining Dominion Government approval of the Beaumharnois development was launched in Superior Court here to-day against R. O. Sweeney by executors of the estate of Clifford W. B. Sifton.

Authors of the action against the ex-president of the Beaumharnois Power Corporation are Henry A. Sifton, Clifford Sifton and W. Victor Sifton of Toronto, suing as testamentary executors of the estate of Clifford Winfield Burrows Sifton of Ashnolite Lodge, Leeda County, Ont., who died June 13, 1928.

The executors seek to recover the $53,972.01 from Mr. Sweeney as payment for professional services rendered. Mr. Sweeney by the late Mr. Sifton when the former was attempting to secure Dominion Government approval of the Beaumharnois power project in the autumn of 1927.

Brothers of Mr. Sifton claim he had exacted an advance payment of $5,000 from Mr. Sweeney when he undertook the furthering of Mr. Sweeney's interests with the understanding that $50,000 additional was to be paid over the course of 1927.

If the Dominion administration approved the Beaumharnois Canal plan the Siftons maintain that their brother in fact rendered the required services to Mr. Sweeney so effectively that the development of the Beaumharnois project was approved by two orders-in-council dated March 8, 1929, and June 22, 1929.

Plaintiffs further alleged Mr. Sweeney has recognized his obligation to the Siftons by making a payment of $5,000 in 1927, when he asked a six months' delay in paying.

THREE OTHERS IN CUSTODY Investigators, dividing their time between the stamp thefts and drug inquiry into activities of a reputed counterfeit ring, were expected to make further arrests in the theft case before long.

Three men were already under arrest in the other case, and one, Percy Farr, was being given preliminary hearing on six charges, five of which his companions are accused as members of a "ring" which manufactured and sold imitations of Newfoundland's costly air-mail stamps.

One of the stamps duplicated was the world's most expensive aerial issue—the $4.50 surcharge marking the centenary of the crossing of General Italo Balbo and his Italian airmen last year.

Further, they believe, it may mark the conclusion of a turbulent period likely to be known in Japanese history as the "Araki Era," coinciding with Japan's conquest of Manchuria and withdrawal from the League of Nations, two of the largest peace-time budgets in the empire's history, recurrent periods of Japanese United States tensions and ever-darkening Russo-Japanese war clouds.

Some writers, while not doubting the genuineness of Gen. Araki's illness from pneumonia, reported to have been the cause of his resigning, believed the War Minister—foreseeing a decline in the army clique's fortunes—sought the plausible opportunity to retire with his prestige unimpaired.

CUBAN RECOGNITION Washington, Jan. 22 (Associated Press).—President Roosevelt to-day notified the diplomats of Central and South America that the United States government was ready to recognize the new Cuban government.

DOLLAR IS 99 ON EXCHANGE New York, Jan. 22.—British and gold standard currencies put up a firm stand in quiet foreign exchange dealings here to-day.

The Canadian dollar steadied to 1 per cent discount, where it closed unchanged.

Sterling firmed to $5.01 at noon and then eased to close at $5.00 1/4, a net gain of half a cent.

The French franc, closing at 627 centes, was up .04 of a cent.

BEAUMHARNOIS SUIT LAUNCHED

Executors of Late C. W. B. Sifton Ask R. O. Sweeney Pay Them $53,972

Canadian Press Montreal, Jan. 22.—Suits for $53,972.01 for "professional service rendered" in obtaining Dominion Government approval of the Beaumharnois development was launched in Superior Court here to-day against R. O. Sweeney by executors of the estate of Clifford W. B. Sifton.

Authors of the action against the ex-president of the Beaumharnois Power Corporation are Henry A. Sifton, Clifford Sifton and W. Victor Sifton of Toronto, suing as testamentary executors of the estate of Clifford Winfield Burrows Sifton of Ashnolite Lodge, Leeda County, Ont., who died June 13, 1928.

The executors seek to recover the $53,972.01 from Mr. Sweeney as payment for professional services rendered. Mr. Sweeney by the late Mr. Sifton when the former was attempting to secure Dominion Government approval of the Beaumharnois power project in the autumn of 1927.

PARIS WORKMEN SEEKING RELIEF Associated Press Paris, Jan. 22.—A million workers crying out for immediate relief from economic stress presented a serious problem to the government to-day.

Civil servants, 800,000 strong, rallied to their cause, sympathizers in many fields who joined nation-wide demonstrations. They claimed recent pay cuts were excessive.

To-day 300,000 miners in the great coal fields of both the north and south of France protested in their demands for "bread and more work."

MISTRIAL IN WYNEKOOP CASE Chicago, Jan. 22.—A mistrial was declared late to-day in the Wynekoop murder case.

Dr. Alton L. Wynekoop to-day had signed a petition asking Judge Joseph B. David to declare a mistrial because of her precarious health, Attorney Milton Smith announced.

CONCESSION IN PRINCIPLE ONLY?

The decision of the British government to prevent Timber Distributors Limited, a large British lumber-buying syndicate, from importing more than 700,000,000 feet board measurement of lumber from Soviet Russia this year is being described by experts in London as a concession in principle only. We are informed that those who are familiar with the timber importing situation in Britain are far from satisfied with a victory, which, in their opinion, may not mean much in the final analysis. They contend that Russia still will be able to export through Finland, as, indeed, she has been doing for some time past. In other words, it is suggested that the front door has been locked against excessive shipments, while the back door has been left wide open.

Everybody hopes, and particularly the people of British Columbia, that more Canadian lumber will find its way into the British market from year to year. But there are glaring factors about our lumber business which are simple enough for all to understand. One is that our natural market for lumber is in the republic on the south, due to the fact that, in the main, specifications and varieties are the same in the United States as they are in Canada, just as structural requirements are practically the same in both countries—and different from the European specifications. The other is that our natural market is next door—not thousands of miles away. Canada's lumber exports to the United States, of course, have been almost negligible since the duty on all softwoods was increased from one dollar a thousand to four dollars a thousand. It is no use blaming the United States for the action Congress took in June, 1932, when it virtually put the bars up.

It will be recalled that when the Bennett government took office in 1930, we exported about $20,000,000 worth of softwood and bought about $2,000,000 worth of hardwood. The hardwood manufacturers of Ontario applied to the government for tariff increases to keep out this hardwood, and in April, 1931, arbitrary valuations were applied. But in the following June, Mr. Bennett imposed a one per cent prime duty on imports, including lumber. This was followed by an order from the National Revenue Department in August, 1931, reducing the discount allowed to the United States hardwood manufacturers, and, in November, by dump duties against United States hardwood doors.

These successive imposts brought retaliation by the Washington government. The Ottawa authorities, realizing their error, endeavored to placate Washington by withdrawing the prime duty. The other tariff increases, however, were retained. Then in June the following year—1932—Congress took the final step in retaliation and increased the duty on Canadian lumber from one dollar to four dollars per thousand feet. The effect was ruinous to this country. Exports in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1933, fell to the incredibly low total of 235,528,000 feet.

Realizing that the United States market had been lost, and under severe criticism from the lumbermen, the Bennett government turned to the British market. Possession of a substantial portion of the British trade became one of the chief objectives of the Canadian delegates at the Ottawa Conference, and Article 21 of the treaty was hailed throughout this Dominion as the proof of victory.

But, as pointed out in these columns many times, for some years the lumbermen of British Columbia had been divided in their opinion about the desirability of asking the Dominion government to remove the twenty-five per cent duty on United States manufactured lumber—mainly hardwood. Time and again a small minority persisted in the contention that as long as Canada imposed this duty it would remain a powerful weapon in the hands of those interested in the United States who were continually importuning their Congressional representatives to get the tariff raised against Canadian lumber.

The repeated warnings of this minority were wasted on the desert air. Indeed, the majority assumed an attitude of "I told you so" as the various attempts on the part of lumber operators in the State of Washington to impress Congress failed. This element in Canada argued that the farm bloc in the United States would always be able to squash any attempt to increase the cost of lumber by way of the tariff route. Consequently, no application for its discontinuance went to Ottawa, where, when the former administration was in office, it would have been favorably received and acted upon. Then the blow fell in the summer of 1932 and those who preferred to let matters stand in spite of constant warnings began to tear their hair in desperation to find a new outlet for their products. Their recent fight in London is an aftermath of the tariff war.

When saner tariff policies prevail at Ottawa, however, the United States market will most certainly be reopened and the Canadian lumbermen will recover their natural market.

THE DIPPER TOO MUCH FOR HER

A citizen of this community paid a visit to the offices of this newspaper the other day and told us an interesting little story about his small daughter. It appears that the other night he set out to teach her something about the stars. He pointed out this one and that one, and then tried to show her where the Big Dipper was. She had trouble in seeing it—and presently the father discovered, to his amazement, that the youngster never in her life had seen a dipper and did not know what one was like.

To a member of the older generation, this looks like a very odd lack of knowledge. The old familiar dipper, that always hung in the kitchen where you could dip it in the water bucket for a drink, or in the stove's hot-water reservoir for dish water, was as familiar a part of household equipment as the living-room lamp or the bedroom washstand. A child of our generation could as easily have been ignorant of the appearance of a knife and fork as of a dipper. But things are different now, and the gentleman who made this little discovery felt that the change was somehow symbolic.

In the old days the citizen got his water supply by the simple process of digging a well—or, possibly, going to the town pump—hauling up a bucket and putting it on the kitchen table. A well, a bucket, a piece of rope, and a dipper—that was all there was about it. Nowadays the process is both simpler and more complex. It is simpler, in that all he does is turn on a faucet and let the water run out of its own accord. It is more complex in that the faucet will not work unless behind it there is an intricate framework of reservoirs, pumping stations, aqueducts, filtering plants, bond issues, tax bills and the like.

The citizen, in other words, has gained simplicity at the cost of great complexity. He needs to expend only an infinitesimal amount of energy to get what he needs; but he needs, at the same time, to be a member of a society which is very closely integrated, a society disciplined and cohesive, in which co-operative effort for the common good is a necessity which never is forgotten.

By becoming a member of such society, he forfeits a measure of his individual freedom. Yet it is futile for him to want to go back. The dipper-and-cistern days are as irrevocable as the stagecoach era. And even if the citizen could exchange what he now has for those old days of "freedom," he would think twice about it before making the swap.

OUR EXPANDING GOLD INDUSTRY

What is technically listed as "known and probable" gold, that is gold blocked out and ready for mining in British Columbia mines, is estimated at 2,000,000 ounces as at the first of this year by Mr. John D. Galloway, Provincial Mineralogist. This total compares with the corresponding estimate of 1,500,000 ounces of "known and probable" in the developed ore bodies of the mines of this province early in 1932.

In the period of nearly two years since the early 1932 estimate was made, about 400,000 ounces of its total has actually been extracted. But while this 400,000 ounces was being made immediately marketable, more than twice as much, or 900,000 ounces, of new gold-proven ore was being blocked out. That gives an idea of the healthy progression with which the gold mining industry is developing here. It carries assurance for the expanding future.

With gold, formerly $20.67 an ounce, now selling at more than $33, it may easily be computed that the present rate of production must mean in the way of vitalizing British Columbia with new wealth. Mr. Galloway's figures, of course, take no account of undeveloped gold deposits or of the showing in the new mines which are being brought into shape for production during the next year or two.

FINLAND ASKS A FAVOR

Finland's original debt to the United States, principal and interest, amounted to a little less than $22,000,000. As each instalment has fallen due she has met the payment in full.

It is well known, of course, that Finland is a small and poor country with a population of approximately 3,700,000. Now she has asked the United States to consider the feasibility of a substantial reduction in the balance of her debt to that country.

Congress would have to approve any such settlement to make it binding; but in view of Finland's unique record in the matter of debt payments, she is fairly certain to get her reward.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

INTEREST NEEDED

St. St. John Telegraph-Journal

What is needed is the application of ordinary business principles to a business situation. The time has come when the man-in-the-street must take as close an interest in the finances of this province as he does in the taxes of the community of which he is a resident.

LIVING IN THE PRESENT

The Toronto Globe

Halifax Harbor has had an excellent year, with tonnage considerably larger than 1932 and 1931. The eastern port now is among the keenest bidders for ocean traffic, and has quit dwelling upon the great days of its building and sailing of wooden ships.

POETRY BY THE CODE

The Manchester Guardian

It may be wondered whether instant odes of honor will rise up in U.S.A. to salute the action of a gentleman who is described as "president of the Poet Laureate League," and who has filled with the competent government authorities a "code for poets" which he thinks ought to be applied under the National Recovery Administration. According to that code poets would be guaranteed a minimum weekly wage of twenty dollars (rising to forty dollars if their poems were syndicated), and they would have a maximum working week of thirty-five hours.

Nothing seems to be said about the nature, substance, and quality of a poet's output; as long as he puts in his thirty-five hours a week and draws his twenty dollars from the cashier's office on pay day perhaps the output is accepted as automatically O.K. It might, however, be pointed out that a really determined poet, working (with or without a rhyming dictionary) for seven hours a day over a five-day week could emit an awful amount of verse of one sort or another. And if he chopped it up into unrhymed fragments devoid of all capital letters (as is the habit of so many of the frenzied funnies of to-day) the national output of poetry might easily cause another crisis of overproduction. It might also interfere with the bright prospects for monetary inflation by causing a paper shortage and so hindering the manufacture of bank notes. By comparison with that difficulty an actual overproduction of poetry hardly matters. If surplus cotton and coffee can be burnt in locomotives, surplus sonnets should offer no problem at all.

A movement to save the noble art of beer guzzling—a ripe notion from Mr. Brisbane—a use for 50,000,000 new babies—a curious conception of arithmetic—and a disgraceful scene at the Empress Hotel.

MUSIC

THE VANCOUVER SUN has given voice to a moving plea for music in beer parlors. It thinks that if music flowed through these premises as well as froth they might be more attractive, and Heaven knows that even the best beer parlors in Vancouver and elsewhere are so dismal, so like an underground cellar where conspirators meet to plot assassinations and poisonings, that the wonder is anyone ever drinks beer at all. On the whole, I should think they must fulfill the prohibitionists' wildest hopes by making the consumption of beer about as cheerful an occupation as burying your best friend. Their chief danger to sobriety is the undoubted fact that many a man rushes out of them in despair and cheers himself up by getting drunk on real liquor.

But this music idea doesn't seem to offer much hope. The notion of those who advocate it is that beer parlors here can be developed into those charming resorts of Central Europe, where the carefree populace sits out under the trees and the stars and gossips with the sweet innocence of children, and is so well pleased with life that it doesn't revolt against its brutal dictators and tinpot kings.

I doubt that giving us music with our beer will effect this great moral reformation in our national character. I doubt that you can make Canadians a race who sit under the stars and sip beer and cheer the government. For one thing our climate is rather too chilly. So is our temperament. I doubt that we can rise to these finer opportunities of life. I doubt that the dull spirits of Canadians will ever be exalted by beer simply because a radio or even a jazz band is playing in the corner.

By all means let the beer parlors have music if they want to. But I'm afraid they'll find after all their trouble and expense that we just don't possess that natural European spirit of carnival, that aesthetic instinct which gives beer guzzling its well-known cultural value. I fear that Canadians will still prefer to drink hard liquor and drink it hard or, worse, to stay sober altogether.

NOTABLE NOTION

THE EMINENT Arthur Brisbane, of the Hearst press, whose sleepless mutterings become the solemn thoughts of morose millions every day, has lately added another gem to his sparkling collection. He has said that too much birth control and less babies in the United States would be a very bad thing, since the country needs 50,000,000 more people to eat the farmers' products and to buy secondhand automobiles. This is a noble concept of human life and worth attention because it is so common in Canada also.

It is a noble concept, I mean, when children are to be bred and human spirits launched upon eternity for the purpose of eating farmers' products and buying secondhand automobiles. That, surely, is raising the dignity of human life to a remarkable level. Apparently in the new era now dawning man cannot live by bread alone but they can live on vegetables and broken-down flippers. In other words, having made a total mess of our economic system, having developed far too many farms and a surplus of foodstuffs and a superabundance of secondhand automobiles, we should breed 50,000,000 children to absorb our mistakes. It seems a somewhat laborious way of going about the revolution. There ought to be some easier method you would think.

50,000,000 new Americans won't absorb all the farm products and the secondhand automobiles. Probably they will insist on new ones and cut down on their food, as millions of Americans and Canadians do now.

But in any case, of those 50,000,000 a large part will be producing more automobiles or other mechanical devices and a still larger part will be producing food. Each of the 50,000,000 in industry will be producing more than he consumes, as every man does nowadays, with the aid of machinery, and the remainder will be unemployed, consuming little of anything. So, leaving the economic system as it is, the United States will find that its 50,000,000 babies who were produced to eat up the scraps are just adding to the abundance of the feast and the resulting hunger which appears inevitable under the existing arrangements.

FALLACY

FORTUNATELY THE United States has a government which at least is trying, with many blunders but good intent, to meet this difficulty in a more sensible way than merely by increasing the population. In Canada our problem is a bit different. We certainly need more population to eat our surplus, to use our railways and occupy our empty paved streets. But when we have doubled our population we shall be no better off than we are now unless we have doubled our intelligence at the same time.

For by the time we have doubled our population we shall have more than doubled our present surplus of farm products, railways, paved streets; we shall have inflated the capitalization of our public utilities, we shall have weighed down our governments with more debt and, behold, the 20,000,000 Canadian will look about them and say to themselves, "We must have more people to absorb the surplus and to pay taxes on our indebtedness."

If, however, Canadian intelligence has doubled in the meantime they may awake with a blinding light and discover that if they made it possible for all the people to consume twice as much as at present, the surplus would all disappear overnight, and then the flow of population would follow automatically, whereas at present we are deporting people who can't earn a living. Thanks, Mr. Brisbane, for these ripe thoughts.

DISGRACEFUL EPISODE

IF SHAREHOLDERS of the C.P.R. value their property, they will see that it doesn't occur again. They will see, I mean, that the little girl and boy from next door aren't invited to tea at the Empress Hotel again. Even the well-built fixtures and costly furnishings of the Empress Hotel won't stand up to the sort of thing yet, seriously enough the guests and hotel staff seem to enjoy it when two degrading spirits stalk through the premises, even into the kitchens and guest rooms and elevators, and the young gentlemen from next door inquire politely from everyone if there are any rooms about for his collection.

But the significant passage in revealing the political state of the child mind occurred when the two of them stood gaping at the big oil painting of King George over the fireplace.

"That's the King," said she. "He rules you, you know. But he doesn't rule me. No one rules me."

"That's King Cole, merry old shoal," said her brother.

"No, that's the real King," said his sister.

"That's the Big Bad Wolf," said her brother.

"No, that's the King in England, down near Seattle."

"That's King of Castle. And you're the dirty rascal," said her brother.

"No, it's the real King, I tell you and you'll get into trouble if you cheek him. He got soldiers with guns to shoot you."

"No, that's Santa Claus," said her brother. "I'm not afraid him."

And he dashed off to investigate the orchestra leader, to help the piano player and to ask each lady present to put out her tongue so that he could examine it.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

PRAYER FOR THE YOUNG YEAR
Now, when the year is young, I would devote some way to keep it flaxen as it came. Some way to make its promise crystalline and fire its purpose with undying flame. To be a thing too fair to suffer such a fate. Because of careless hands and thoughtless feet. I see its rainbow radiance wane As stealthy hours quench the gleam of it.

Now, when the year is young, with wary tread And prayer upon my lips I softly go, I pray the year to be as good as new. Let it be the trust upon me laid And may a marvel whiten the snow. God, help me keep unscarred this fresh year's days, And bring them up with all I have of prayer!

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
January 22, 1909
(From The Times Files)

The campaign for the beautifying of Victoria, so energetically carried on by Joseph Taylor, is making great progress. A petition has been drawn up for the signature of citizens and will be placed in stores and all other points where those who are in favor of the scheme can go and sign.

Before the Vancouver Island Development Association, which is meeting here to-day, R. Marpole, general executive assistant of the C.P.R., this morning read a paper which is full of promise for this part of the province. Coming from one in the position which Mr. Marpole occupies and taking into account the opportunities which his company possesses to aid in the development of the island, the paper is one of the utmost importance.

That the population of school age in the province is increasing so rapidly as to make necessary much larger expenditure in that direction is plain from the report presented yesterday by the Minister of Education. It appears that in the last school year, ending on June 30, there was an enrollment in all the colleges and schools of 32,314—17,162 boys and 15,152 girls. This is 3,278 more than in the preceding year, which in turn had an increase of 1,517 to record.

Providing a movement now under way to secure a new eight-oared shell for the Vancouver Rowing Club will be represented in the proposed big eight-oar race at the Alaska Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle this year, when all the prominent eight-oared crews in America will be brought together.

After being buffeted by a number of gales and driven into Kyuquot, the steamer Ties arrived from the West Coast two days late. The trip was a disagreeable one throughout. There were about thirty passengers came down on her.

As usual, the opening of the Legislature brought together on the floor of the house and in the gallery many of Victoria's best known ladies. The weather was unfortunately such as to deter many from attending. Some smart costumes were noticeable.

Veterans Name New Officers

R. Wilkinson, M.P.P.-elect,
Heads B.C. Command of
Army and Navy

Robert Wilkinson, M.P.P.-elect for Point Grey, and former secretary of the B.C. Provincial Command of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, was elevated to the office of president of the organization at the annual convention held in the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon.

R. Jack, New Westminster, and T. Jones, Victoria, were elected first and second vice-presidents, respectively. The secretary of the association, who is named by the president, will be appointed at a later date.

Opening shortly after 1 o'clock the session lasted until early evening. Many resolutions dealing with matters affecting veterans were adopted and recommended forward to the Dominion headquarters for presentation at the annual parley of the senior body at Vancouver in September. Upwards of 100 delegates from different parts of Canada will, it is expected, attend this convention.

Submitted by the Vancouver East Unit, a resolution urging that the provincial government be approached in connection with the reorganization of the British Columbia Board of Trustees of the Canteen Fund, with a view to having a representative of the Provincial Command of the Army and Navy Veterans placed on the board, was passed unanimously. W. Miller, Vancouver, was named for the post.

PENSION MATTERS

Requesting the Dominion headquarters of the Army and Navy Veterans to appoint delegates to meet the Dominion Government in co-operation with the Canadian Legion in March, on the subject of pension reductions, this resolution, brought forward by the Ladysmith Unit, was one of the most important on the agenda. It received the wholehearted support of the delegates, and will be forwarded to headquarters without delay. Another resolution from the up-country unit looked the form of a vigorous protest at the action of the Dominion Government in reducing men of small pensions to practically nothing, and other forms of pensioning in line with the general policy of economy now being practiced.

OBJECTION RAISED

Strong objection was raised to the proposed plan to deduct from the monthly salaries of pensioners in the service of either the provincial or Dominion governments, the amount of their pensions. A resolution from the New Westminster body asking that strenuous objection be voiced to the proper authorities, was passed without a dissenting voice.

Advanced by the Victoria Unit, a resolution suggesting that the Dominion headquarters be again requested to approach the British Empire Service League for membership was also approved.

Dealing with the matter of educational grants to children of returned men, the convention favored making such assistance to British Columbia-born students of ex-service men, regardless of what unit the father served in during hostilities. At present the rule is only applicable to children of men who served with British Columbia units. Steps will be taken to interview the government in this connection.

The New Westminster Unit placed a resolution before the meeting declaring that "this meeting now goes on record protesting against the words 'Last Post Fund' being inscribed on the tombstones of deceased soldiers and sailors buried by that fund, the words being too suggestive of a paupers' cemetery and that this resolution be placed before the proper authorities for action in this matter." This resolution was adopted unchanged.

The next quarterly convention of the B.C. Provincial Command of the Army and Navy Veterans will be held at South Vancouver, the meeting decided. Delegates from the Victoria Unit informed the gathering that in future, their unit would make a grant to the Red Cross, instead of purchasing a wreath, a policy which has been adhered to in the past. It was felt that such action would be more beneficial as the full sum would go to aid the work, their being in expenditure for material and labor. The committee appointed to investigate conditions at the Vancouver Returned Soldier Bazaar, on Powell Street, brought in a satisfactory report. It was adopted unanimously.

WELCOMED BY MAYOR

Visiting delegates were tendered an official welcome to the city by Mayor David Leeming, at the banquet following the business session. President Wilkinson, mayor of the city, and thanked him for the interest he was showing in ex-servicemen. Rev. G. S. Stevenson, Alberni, chaplain of the Provincial Command, entertained the delegates with reminiscences of his experiences in France as a private.

Following the banquet the delegates were entertained at a smoking concert

DOG HYSTERIA IS REPORTED

S.P.C.A. Suggests Remedies
For "Barking Flu"

Another outbreak of canine hysteria, such as affected dogs here last year, was reported by the inspector at the monthly meeting of the Victoria committee of the B.C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

It is believed that this ailment is caused through faulty diet. An expert member at King's College, Cambridge University, regards so-called "barking flu" as due to deficiency of vitamin A, coupled with a substance occurring in dog biscuits and other cereals. Some fifty dogs were fed on a preponderantly cereal diet. Half of these continuing on the same diet remained hysterical, the other half had a diet with more vitamin A and recovered. It would seem that dogs should be given meat regularly and if bread is included in the daily ration, white bread is preferable to brown.

The following treatment is advised by a local authority on canine ailments: On first appearance of symptoms best treatment is a prompt emetic. Apomorphine given in dosage of from one-twentieth to one-tenth of a grain in a teaspoonful of water is the best emetic obtainable. As it is a derivative of morphine it is not easily obtainable unless one is known to one's druggist. A dose of oil once a month would help to act as a preventative; an excellent oil is locally produced from pichardine thirty-nine cases were attended during the month and 459 animals and birds were inspected. One horse, nine cats and three dogs were destroyed.

Cases of cruelty or neglect should be reported to the inspector, G. A. Allen, phone Empire 8351, or to A. R. Sherwood, secretary-treasurer, phone Empire 7556.

Nanaimo, Jan. 22.—Mrs. D. W. Richards was elected president at the annual meeting of the local Council of Women here.

Other officers are: Honorary president, Mrs. J. Somers; first vice-president, Mrs. W. Pashley; second vice-president, Mrs. J. Morrissey; recording secretary, Mrs. F. Reynolds; treasurer, Mrs. J. McElennor. Reports were read from the various committees, which included suggested improvements to the local provincial police court building. Appointment of delegates to the annual meeting of the provincial council was deferred. The secretary gave a resume of the year's activities.

TO AID LAYING OUT OF GARDENS

T. B. Mathieson, F.R.H.S.,
Joins Oliver, Stewart
Clark & Co.

Oliver, Stewart Clark and Co. Ltd., of 640 Fort Street, announce a new departure in the real estate business by combining advice and help as to the laying out of gardens in conjunction with the sale of real estate. In this city, renowned for its flowers and gardens, they feel that such service is a natural adjunct of the real estate business.

T. B. Mathieson, F.R.H.S., who has joined the firm as a director, has the special knowledge which it is felt will be of assistance to the firm's clients. Mr. Mathieson attended Wye Agricultural College after leaving Aldenham School, and came to British Columbia in 1911, where he engaged in fruit farming in the Okanagan until 1914. During the Great War he was with the Egyptian Expeditionary Force and after the capture of Jerusalem was placed in command of the Kasbah of Jerusalem Police Force. During this time he assisted in laying out gardens in many of the sacred spots.

He returned to Kelowna in 1920 and bought a mixed farm there, which he worked until 1926, when he came to Victoria and joined the Dominion Entomological Section, afterward going to Vancouver as inspector of all imported plants, trees and fruits. He returned to England in 1929, and during his stay there laid out gardens at Ramsgate and Teignmouth, in addition to several private gardens.

Are you driving business

BLIND VISITOR TO RADIO CITY

Sightless Member of Thousand Daily Visitors Will Lecture on Studios

Among the thousands of visitors who have been escorted through the National Broadcasting Company's new Radio City headquarters since they were opened last November, was a blind man who said after the tour that he obtained a vivid mental picture of the greatest broadcasting centre.

The unusual visitor is a lecturer to the blind, and was gathering material for one of his talks. He explained that the blind, as a class, are more interested in radio than any other, since it gives them an opportunity, which they could not get in any other way, to experience the pleasure of travelling all over the world and hearing hundreds of famous people, without ever leaving their armchairs.

The visitors who are taken through the Radio City studio by a corps of uniformed guides number approximately a thousand a day.

During December, the first full month since the tours were inaugurated, 27,885 persons were taken through the studios.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

South Salt Spring Women's Institute

Fulford Harbor, Jan. 22—The fourteenth annual meeting of the South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute was held in the Institute hall here Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. Richard Maxwell in the chair. The report of the year's work was given by the secretary, Mrs. L. D. Drummond. The financial report was considered satisfactory. A letter from the Islands Agricultural Association and Farmers' Institute on the proposed amalgamation of fall fairs, was answered in the negative, owing to lack of space and difficulties of transportation.

A dance and Burns' celebration was arranged for January 25, in the Institute hall. An orchestra from Victoria will supply the music, and supper will be in the hands of a committee. The amount realized by the Christmas dance for the unemployment fund was $41.00. On the proposal of Mrs. Akerman, the officers of the preceding year were re-elected. Tea hostesses were Mrs. Drummond and Miss Gladys Shaw.

LONGER FEEDING INTERVALS
BEST FOR BABY

If the mother is convinced that the new-born baby does not need more than six feedings per day, she is inclined to space those feedings at 6, 9, 12, 3, 6, with one feeding at night. It is unnecessary to feed so often after long experience, that any baby over six pounds in weight thrives as well on a four-hour schedule as on a three-hour one, and with much less tendency to have colic.

EVERY THREE HOURS

Mrs. H. W. B. still clings to three-hour feedings in the daytime, but has decided that baby doesn't need two feedings at night. She writes: "My baby weighed five pounds at birth and now three months of age weighs 12 pounds. She gets seven feedings, consisting of twenty-one ounces of milk, seven ounces of water, and two tablespoons of corn syrup. It seems to me that her weight is good enough and her age sufficiently advanced, so that she need have only on feeding at night. Is this correct?"

"She can take only three and one-half ounces at a feeding without spitting up. Shouldn't she take more at a feeding? She gets two tablespoons of orange juice daily and three spoonfuls of cod liver oil."

TWO NIGHT MEALS

If this baby was slightly premature, as a five pound weight would indicate, she is both in fact, and in weight nearer two months old instead of three. A two months old baby has a capacity for about four to four and one-half ounces of formula per feeding. It would be preferable to give four or more ounces every four hours, rather than three and one-half every three hours. Continue the two night feedings until baby sleeps through without waking.

The spitting up may be caused by too frequent feedings, too tight binders or too much oil at one dose, or the feedings themselves. If the vomiting is of the gushing type, let the doctor work out that problem. If it is just a gentle spitting back, be careful not to handle baby after feeding, or to have any tight and compressive garments which might promote vomiting. The present formula can be twenty ounces of boiled milk, three tablespoons of corn syrup and enough boiled water to make thirty ounces in all.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

THESE MENUS GIVE HIGH FOOD VALUE AT LOW COST

By SISTER MARY

The menus for to-morrow have been worked out to give maximum food value at minimum cost. While the age and occupation of each member of a family determine his food requirements, the average family of two adults and two children will find the menus adequate for all. The simple program of elimination will make them suitable for anyone who wants less food.

In the breakfast menu, a cooked grain cereal is suggested. This type of cereal gives the most food value for the money. A second hot dish is not planned, but extra large servings of the cereal are given and cream is provided.

The luncheon menu follows the rule of developing the flavor of bland foods as much as possible and including some highly flavored foods in the menu. Vitamins and minerals are supplied in abundance and make up any lack in the breakfast menu.

Salisbury steak is a bit more out-of-the-ordinary than hamburger but is used the same round steak in its make-up. To make it, put round steak through the food chopper twice. Season well, using one teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper to each pound of steak. Make into round flat cakes and broil in a fine wire broiler under or over a clear flame. Salisbury steak is a cooked, never pan-broiled nor fried like hamburger.

Creamed potatoes are chosen in the dinner menu for the amount of milk they add to the dietary. Keep in mind that skimmed milk can be used to excellent advantage in cooking where strict economy must be practiced.

Any vegetable, especially green beans, can be used. The carrots were selected because of their contrasting color and texture and also on account of their cheapness. Browning, buttered yellow turnips or "greens" such as spinach, kale or endive might well be used.

The dinner dessert uses dried apples (place of fresh fruit). It is such a good, simple pudding that this recipe follows:

DRIED APPLE PUDDING

One cup dried apples, 1 cup molasses, 1 1/2 cups flour, 3 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Wash apples through several waters. Let stand overnight in cold water to remove bitterness. Cut into small pieces and simmer in water in which they were soaked until tender. Dissolve soda in molasses and add to stewed apples. Mix and sift flour, spices and salt and stir into first mixture. Add shortening and beat well. Add egg well beaten and turn into a well buttered baking dish. Bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm with hard sauce or liquid sauce.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal (cooked whole), grain, cream, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Macaroni baked with tomato and cheese sauce, shredded cabbage salad (season with celery seeds and lemon juice), reheated rolls, homemade jelly or preserves, milk tea.

Dinner—Salisbury steak, creamed potatoes, buttered carrots, curly cutlets with bacon dressing, dried apple pudding, milk, coffee.

C.G.I.T. GIRLS' COUNCIL BUSY

Meeting Saturday Planned
"to Put C.G.I.T. on the Map"

The Victoria Girls' Council held its first meeting of the year on Saturday at the Y.W.C.A., with a good attendance—present, representing twenty churches.

After a delicious supper, the girls enjoyed a lively sing-song, after which a short business session was held. The theme for the evening was the slogan for C.G.I.T. groups this year—"To Put C.G.I.T. on the Map of B.C." Kay Foxford of Emmanuel Baptist gave an interesting talk on the history of C.G.I.T., and how the dream of five Toronto women, eager to lead Canada's girlhood down through the years "in favor with God and man," has been realized, uniting 38,000 girls across Canada under this great movement.

Miss Lillian Parfitt, the sponsor of the council, spoke on "What C.G.I.T. Means to the Girl, What the Movement is Doing in Canada and B.C.," challenging each girl to be true to their four-fold purpose, emphasizing the fact that Christ is the centre of all things and that this great movement of which we are a part is not only a movement but the Jesus way of living. She stressed the fact that though there are 4,000 C.G.I.T. girls in B.C., there are some fields still untold by means of simple posters. Miss Margaret Fleming, president of the council, who presided over the gathering, took us on an imaginary tour through B.C., placing on a poster map the centres where C.G.I.T. work

CALL of the WEST

By R. G. MONTGOMERY

CHAPTER XXXV

"You're more like yourself than you have been for days," Asper Delo smiled fondly upon his daughter. This was the first time she had been free from a worried manner since coming to Three Rivers.

Dudley was sitting on the wide porch railing, looking off into the purple shadows that had begun to gather under the rim of Folly Mountain. He had been unusually quiet all evening.

Dona smiled up at her father from the low stool she had pulled close beside his chair. Asper was enjoying a black cigar with his accustomed thoroughness. He chewed one end of it while he kept the other aglow constantly. His remarks were punctuated by lifting the burning end of the cigar sharply at the end of each sentence.

"Do you think Swergin is on the level?" Dona put the question abruptly.

Asper grunted and his cigar bobbed vigorously. "Swergin's all right."

"I am afraid of him," Dona said simply.

"Swergin would be a lot safer to play with than that man Ball," Dudley cut in.

Dona did not answer but her hand slipped to her father's knee. She knew what Dudley was thinking about. He must have heard of her part in letting the killer escape.

"Swergin is used to handling two-faced men who are a hard lot," Asper went on.

"I want you to quit Three Rivers the Delo Timber Company doesn't need this cutting. You told me it paid poorly," Dona was very much in earnest.

"And let that bully have the laugh on you?" Dudley put in sourly.

"Dudley about sizes it up," Asper spoke slowly. "But we're leaving Three Rivers for good day after tomorrow."

Dona looked at Dudley and saw that he was gaining moodily into the sunset. She did not blame him for being out of sorts and gloomy but she was sure he would come around as he always had. Dudley was accustomed to having girls flatter him. He was more than a little spoiled. Somehow marrying Dudley had ceased to be distasteful. It seemed not to matter much.

Asper arose and stretched his big arms. "I guess I'll go and read a bit before I turn in." He bent and gave his daughter a kiss.

"Don't hurry away on account of us," Dudley spoke deliberately.

Asper smiled and tossed the short butt of his cigar over the rail. He realized that things were a bit ruffled between the young couple and figured that what they needed was a little time alone to patch things up.

Dona waved him good-night and sat with her knees drawn up. She was not eager to listen to Dudley's accusations and to make explanations to win him from his gloomy mood. Dudley sat looking away from her with a pouting frown on his lips.

The red glow in the sky melted to steel blue and a single star appeared. The moon would be late in coming up. Dona looked at her watch. It was 8.20. She stirred and suddenly got up and walked to the rail.

"If you must sit there and mourn I think I'll take a little walk," she knew this would only add to Dudley's fit of stubbornness.

He grunted and settled further into his easy chair.

Without another word the girl walked down the steps and into the path that led down the hill. Dudley watched her go with a half smile but he did not move.

Dona wandered along until she was swallowed up by the shadows, then she crossed to the path leading to the corral. She moved at an easy, swinging walk with her head up and her lips parted eagerly. At the main gate she halted and peered about her. A dark form detached itself from the black wall of the saddle house and came toward her.

"O.K. Lady. You'll find her around the corner," Malloy's voice came to her softly. There seemed to be a reassuring note of approval in the cowboy's words.

Dona walked around the corner of the saddle house with Malloy close behind her.

"You could just turn her loose. She'd find him," Malloy spoke cautiously.

"I think it would be safer to lead her to him," Dona whispered.

Uncle Wiggly's Coasting Fun

(By HOWARD K. GARIS)

There was so much snow in Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains where Uncle Wiggly lived, that all the animal folk were hopping, skipping or running through snow tunnels, hurrying out of the way of snowballs, dodging icicles or sliding down hill. The animal boys and girls were the ones who did most of the coasting.

"There was never so much fun!" laughed Baby Bunny as she threw herself head first and slid all the way down the long hill.

"Isn't Uncle Wiggly coming out to have some coasting fun?" asked Johnnie Bushytail, a squirrel boy.

"I guess so," answered Buster, a boy rabbit as he and his brothers, Custer, Muster and Duster made a hob and went flying down the long, white slope. "He'll be here pretty soon."

And it was just about this time that Mr. Longears, in his hollow stump bungalow, looked out and, seeing so much snow and seeing so many of the animal children running along with their sleds, said to his wife:

"My dear, let's go coasting."

"Coasting?" exclaimed the rabbit lady. "I guess you forget that I am an old bunny lady, my dear Wiggly."

"No, I don't forget," said Mr. Longears. "You are not too old nor am I nor is Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzz."

The sled went off the hill!

"What's that about me?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper as she came in the room to poke some more holes in the lace curtains so they could look more like Swiss cheese. "What about me?"

"Don't you want some coasting fun?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"Oh, I should love it," squeaked the muskrat lady. "Are you going to take me?"

"If you want me to," Uncle Wiggly said. "I think I can find a sled large enough to hold all three of us. For you'd come now, wouldn't you, dear?" he asked his wife.

"Well," she answered, "if Nurse Jane isn't too old to go coasting I don't believe I am. So I'll get ready."

In a short time Uncle Wiggly, his wife and Nurse Jane were on their way to the coasting hill where, already dozens of animal children from that neighborhood, were having a good time.

"Oh, here comes Uncle Wiggly!" the children shouted as they saw the pink twinkling nose of the old rabbit gentleman over the tops of the snow-covered bushes. "Now we'll have some fun!"

"You have been having fun!" said Mr. Longears as he turned the sled around so it pointed down hill. "Now it is my turn. Get on my dear."

"Get on, Nurse Jane. I'll push you off."

"Why, the idea!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears. "First he tells us to get on and then he says he will push us off. I'm not going to be pushed off like that!"

"Perhaps he doesn't mean it," whispered Nurse Jane.

"All I am going to do," said Uncle Wiggly, "is to take you two ladies sitting on the sled. Then I will be on behind you and I'll push us all off the top of the hill so we will start sliding down."

"Oh, all right," said his wife.

"It sounds nice!" squeaked Nurse Jane.

"All aboard!" called Uncle Wiggly like the conductor of a train. "All aboard on the sled!"

Mrs. Longears sat in front, Nurse Jane sat behind her and Uncle Wiggly stood up at the back, his paws on the sled's runners. He gave them a push so they would start down hill. "Here we go!" cried the rabbit. He ran a little, pushed hard and then jumped on behind the muskrat lady, away the sled slid down the long hill of snow.

"Ohee-e-e-e!" cried Mrs. Longears. "We're going too fast! It takes my breath away. Stop it, Wiggly! Go slow!"

"We can't go any slower!" said Uncle Wiggly. "This is fun! We must coast fast."

"I like it!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "Faster and faster the sled slid. The animal children skipping out on the way to give Uncle Wiggly room. Then, all of a sudden, the sled went off the hill and plopped into a big snowdrift. Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane tried to scream, but they couldn't. Their mouths were filled with snow. So was Uncle Wiggly's. But when they got out of the snow, the two ladies laughed and like coasting fun so much that they helped pull the sled to the top of the hill and down they went again. Oh, they had a jolly time. And if the can opener doesn't start down the rubber ball and bounce up to bite a hole in the ceiling, I'll tell you none about Uncle Wiggly and the Squirrels.

CHAPTER XXXVI

Peace seemed to have descended upon Three Rivers camp and the slopes of Folly Mountain. Men trailed in and out of camp with rifles ready but the rest of the hunt was gone. All of them agreed that Stan Ball must have slipped through their lines and made his escape. Swergin sent out a sheet of telegrams to sheriffs in the surrounding countries giving a description of Ball and posting rewards for his capture dead or alive.

Dona seemed quieter and stayed close to camp. She was beginning to feel the old dread of marrying Dudley. He either sensed this or had some plan of his own on foot for he did not urge her and two days passed uneventfully. Asper delayed their return to the city. He rode every day but did not go far because of a weakness that set in when he exerted himself. The doctor told him that he was reacting to the reward for his reckless conduct while the wound was still in bad shape. Asper grunted and showed the medic his office door, so that after that he was free from the bother of daily examinations.

Langford

The Langford Centre C.C.F. Club will hold a card party and dance at St. Aidan's School at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carlow on Wednesday, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. H. A. Hincks, who has been spending a few days in Victoria visiting friends, has returned to her home at "Holmwood."

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Moss, who have been spending a few days motoring up the island, returned on Friday to their home at "The Bend," Langford Lake.

A card party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Arden, Sherrington, last Thursday evening, when prizes were won by Miss Irene Clark and H. P. Anderson.

Dancing followed the card games, the music for which was supplied by G. Wells and J. Elliot of Jordan River. The object was to collect funds for a basketball for the school children, and sufficient is now on hand for that purpose. The ladies supplied refreshments.

Family Pet May Be This Year's Star on North American Tracks.

Chase Me Expected To Continue Sensational Turf Form of 1933

Carl Cronin Turns Deaf Ear To Tempting Offers From East

THE HANDICAP star of the 1934 racing season on the North American Continent may be Equipoise, and then again maybe not. There is more than a wild chance that the big shot among the equine will be a 7-year-old family pet called Chase Me. The turf which periodically furnishes the world with a story of the underdog that became a champion, the warhorse that once won the English Grand National, for instance, knows no more bizarre tale than that of the crippled colt, Chase Me, who finally was given a chance to run in the closing weeks of the 1933 season and won six straight races.

When he was two years old, this big brown gelding offspring of mighty Purchase out of Mayanel, a $600 mare, was found unfit for training because of bad knees. He was relegated to the peaceful life of a family pet at the farm of John Bosley, near Moncton, N.B. The young Bosley's taught Chase Me how to "shake hands," and other tricks. He was schooled in jumping and used as a hunter. The horse was finally entered in a race last September at Havre de Grace. It was a mile and a furlong for maidens of all ages. Before the barrier was sprung, Chase Me lifted a leg, offering to shake hands with the amazed assistant starter. He looked like anything but a racehorse, with his dangling ears and his head down. He was not a thoroughbred, did not wear a blinker, and he was not a head of the backstretch. Then he passed them as though they were crawling and went on to win by fifteen lengths.

The natural question was, "How long has this been going on?" Chase Me was rubbed down and sent to Laurel where in mid-October he was sent against such class as Bold Lover, Samphire, and Keep Out. Again Chase Me looked along until they reached that home-stretch, again he passed the pack to win by two lengths.

Amazed, Mr. Bosley determined to find out just how good Chase Me was. He was entered in a mile and a sixteenth at Laurel against White Clover, H. Dean, Pedro, Flagstone, and others, conceding the tough White Clover seven pounds. Chase Me won by a length.

He was taken to Pimlico and put up against Fred Avon, mare that had beaten Equipoise a year before. It was a repetition of his other victories. Chase Me followed the field until they got to that stretch where bad ones fold up and good ones begin to come on. Then he did his stuff again, winning by more than a length.

The big, good-natured gelding toyed with his fields. In November at Bowie, he beat the fine sprinter Oskapi away from the tape, then dropped back so far it appeared he had quit. In the home-stretch he came on again, thus answering the hardest question they ask a horse.

Finally Chase Me was given the works—a handicap race in which there were Mate, Pomposity, Thursday, Dominus, Watch Him, Mad Frop, Indiana, Kerry Patch, Osculator and Chalmers—and was given top weight of 117 pounds to bear around.

He got away fifth. In the backstretch he loafed along third from last. As they neared the far turn he began overtaking them, one by one, giving his backers the greatest thrill a turf fan can have.

There remained only Mate, but for a time after they were straightened out for the run home, Mate looked good enough. Only for swift seconds, though. Jockey Gilbert took the lead. One touch was enough—and Chase Me roared past the great Mate so swiftly he almost knocked him over into the infield.

Six races, six victories! And now those whose pulses beat a little faster as a field of bluebloods goes to the post are wondering if Equipoise who brought back to the race this year to face this new tyrant of the turf—and whether Winoka, the Australian, can lick the family pet.

Carl Cronin, hard-plunging player-coach of the Winnipeg Winniegs Canadian football team, has announced he will remain in the Manitoba city despite handsome offers from several eastern grid teams. Hamilton Tigers made a determined effort to secure the services of the former Notre Dame star. The Tigers' move was not unexpected. Having slipped from their high position in eastern football last season, the Bengals appear to be following the old athletic custom of "changing mentors." Bill Hughes is booked for a western team this fall. Hamilton saw the writing on the wall after their disastrous season. Their efforts to keep home talents in the limelight by limiting imports from the U.S. have been defeated. They are now ready to follow the course set by other eastern teams. But they are not going to get Cronin, who has announced his intention to remain with Winnipeg.

RETAINS SKATING TITLE

First-named In Clever Display To Beat Toronto

Red Wings Become Third Team in League to Beat Leafs; Maroons-Chicago Tie

AMERICANS WHIP BOSTON BRUINS

Pudgy Jack Adams clapped his Detroit Red Wings on their broad backs to-day and told them what good boys they are. For the Wings had joined that select company of hockey clubs that have beaten Toronto Maple Leafs this season.

Montreal Canadiens and Ottawa Senators enjoyed membership together until yesterday evening when Detroit became the first United States National Hockey League team to take a tumble out of the league champions.

Defeated 4 to 2 in Toronto was one of six games that made the week-end the busiest the league has had since the schedule opened in November. The Wings split even on their last two games, losing to Ottawa 5 to 4 at the Capital Saturday night and Toronto picked up only one point in two engagements, tying Chicago 2 to 2 Saturday at Toronto.

Black Hawks played two ties, both with the same score, drawing 2 to 2 with Montreal Maroons in Chicago yesterday evening. Canadiens defeated New York Rangers 5 to 4 in Montreal Saturday and New York Americans beat Boston 4 to 2 in New York yesterday.

THREE-WAY TIE

The net result of the battling was to leave Rangers, Chicago and Detroit tied for first place in the United States section, seven points up on Bruins. The Canadian standing is unchanged.

Captain Herbie Lewis, from Calgary, was Adams' big gun in the attack on Toronto. After Joe Primeau and Buzz Boll had scored for Toronto in the first and second periods and Frank Carson and Eddie Wiseman had tied it up in the third, Lewis came through with two extra-session goals that gave Wings the game.

On Saturday night Leafs had to come from behind to win the tie with Chicago. Mush March got the Hawks' first goal before the game was three minutes old and Taffy Abel scored his fifth tally in three years to put the Hawks two up.

Charlie Conacher worked with Primeau to score Leafs' first goal in the second period and Bill Thoms brought the Canadian division lead—season total to 100 goals half way through the third.

Ottawa's band of young Niagara Falls amateurs brought the Senators victory over the Wings. Max Kaminsky had a goal and two assists and Jeff Kalbelsch, Scotty Bowman and Jerry Shannon helped.

Senators came from behind twice in the first period to catch up but the Wings added a third goal to go into Detroit scored another in the second the middle frame one up. Although season, Ottawa were able to shove out past Wild Cure. Sid Howe got the winning tally in the third period.

Chicago looked to have a safe margin when Johnny Gottselig and Doc Rompes gave them markers in the first period of their game with Maroons. Jimmy Ward and Hooley Smith went on a rampage in the third, however, and both scored, Ward assisting Smith on the latter's goal as well.

HELD LEAD TWICE

Rangers were in the lead twice against Canadiens Saturday night but they couldn't make their one-goal margin safe. Wildor Laroche and Jack Riley stood out for the Habingtons. Laroche scored two goals and got two assists while Riley had a goal and three assists.

The game produced the speediest hockey seen in Montreal this season. Aurel Joliat, Canadiens' veteran, would not be shut out by the brilliance of the younger Canadians and scored two goals, one of them the third-period marker that won the game. Laroche and Riley were both in on that play with him.

Americans had to beat Boston to climb out of the Canadian division cellar into which they were put by Ottawa's win. They made sure their stay in their old spot would not last more than twenty-four hours by soundly beating the Bruins.

The teams battled at a 1 to 1 deadlock through the latter part of the first period and all through the second. The Boston Martin, another Canadian, broke through with Americans' second and Eddie Burke and Bob Grainger followed him with goals. (Turn to Page 13, Col. 4)

NEW SOFTBALL RULES

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Delegates from thirty-six states and Canada today had adopted unanimously the draft of a new set of rules governing the game of softball as now being played under many names with various sets of rules.

Three major points that have caused confusion, the size of the playing field and ball, together with the determining of a legal delivery, were clarified.

Morrison-Lawson Win Golf Battle

In one of the finest golf matches witnessed on a local links, Bob Morrison and Ken Lawson defeated Alan Taylor and Jimmy Todd at the thirty-seventh hole in the exhibition engagement at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday. In the first match, played two weeks ago, Taylor and Todd scored a 6 and 5 win over thirty-six holes so that yesterday's result seemed evened matters. Taylor and Todd were 1 up at the end of the first eighteen holes. The match was close all the way with neither side being more than 2 up at any time. A large gallery followed the players. The four amateurs, along with several of their friends, were the guests of C. F. Todd at lunch.

TILDEN-VINES PLAY FOR FUN

Present Tour Has No Official Sanction to Contest Titles, Official States

New York, Jan. 22.—The current Bill Tilden-Elsworth Vines tour has no sanction as a "championship" series from the National Professional Tennis Association, J. P. Allen, secretary of the organization, explained to-day as a result of conflicting developments.

Several protests were received from foreign professionals, including Hans Nusslein, Germany, when the Tilden-Vines tour went on the road, billed as being for the "world professional championship." Nothing was done about this, Allen said, for the simple reason that Tilden's troupe is a private enterprise and in no way connected with the National Association.

"Tilden holds the national indoor professional title, won at the tournament this winter in Philadelphia," said Allen. "Nusslein is the world outdoor pro titleholder, having won the championship tournament in Europe last summer. Neither of these titles could be won or lost, except in the annual tournament."

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Bill Tilden went out on Elsworth Vines in their championship tennis tour here Saturday evening by defeating the Californian in a gruelling five-set match, 9-7, 1-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, before a capacity throng of 5,200 spectators at the Broadway Armory. The triumph gave Tilden a four to three lead in matches played.

SHAMROCKS IN EASY VICTORY

Touring Ottawa Ice Club Defeats "American Rangers" 4 to 0 at Paris

Paris, Jan. 22.—Ottawa Shamrocks defeated the all-star hockey team from the United States, which is billed here as the "American Rangers," 4 to 0, Saturday night, to win the International Magwood Cup.

Rangers put up determined resistance that the Canadians failed to break through during the first period. They scored the times, however, in the second and once in the last. The Shamrocks got two of the goals and Phil Reinhardt and Joe Shields one each.

Attendance was 12,000. It was the sixteenth victory for Shamrocks on their European tour. They have not lost a game and have been tied only once, by the Praha Tennis Club.

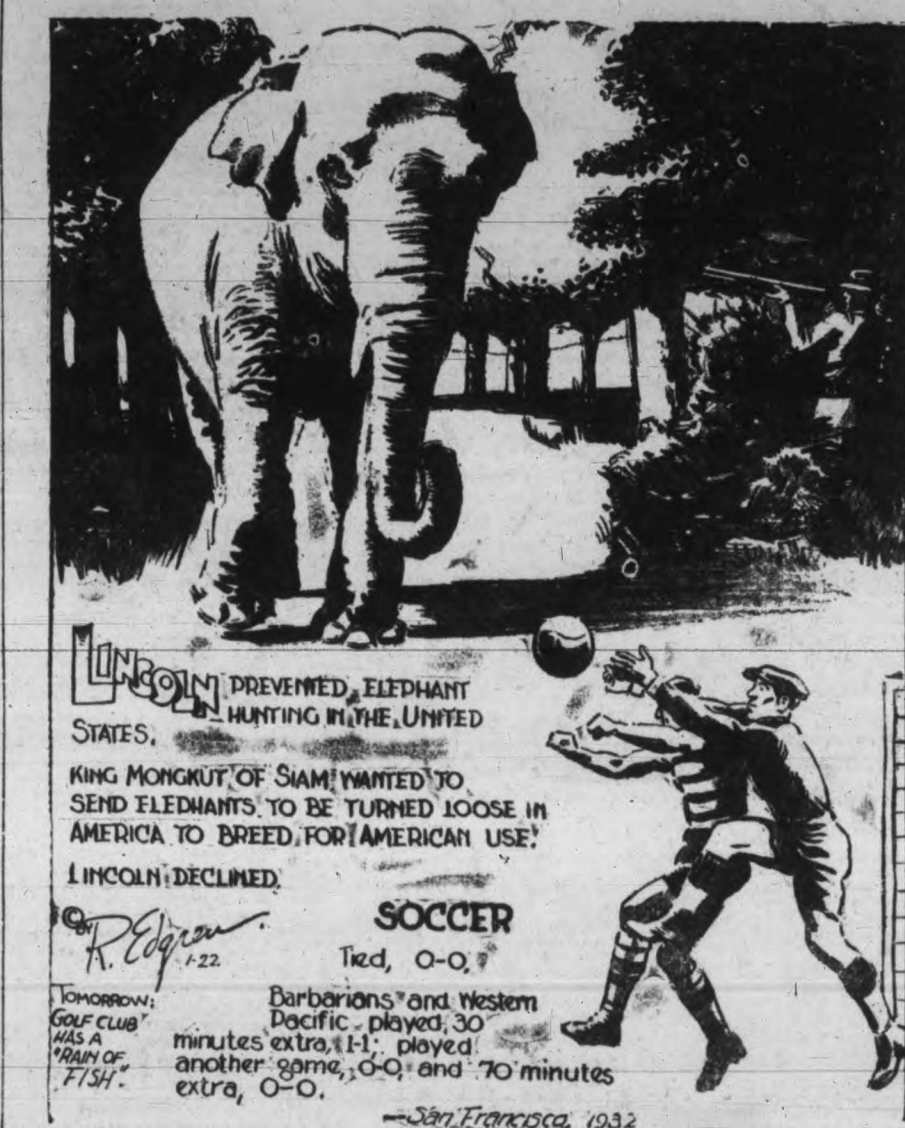

In the West-Equalmatch match the former took the offensive in the early stages and after sixteen minutes went in the lead, when Tommy Muirgave best De Costa with a low shot. The West continued to hold the edge and forced two corners, but the Equalmatch backs cleared. Equalmatch broke fast and Wagland tested Hood with a shot that the West's goalie fumbled before clearing. Equalmatch evened the score when Scotty Stewart took Hall's cross from left wing and beat Hood from feet out. Just before half-time the West took the lead again, Youson driving a low shot into the corner from far out. De Costa dived in the mud in an effort to save and came up looking like a black man.

Only a few minutes of the second half had elapsed when Youson made it 3 to 1. Youson and De Costa engaged in

Victoria West Move Into Football Lead

Victoria West moved into undisputed leadership of the second-half standings in the first division of the Victoria Coast Football League on Saturday afternoon when they handed Esquimalt, first half winners, a 4 to 2 defeat on the mud-covered Heywood Avenue grounds. In the second match the much improved Victoria City team turned back the Saanich Thistles 4 to 1 on lower Beacon Hill. The latter result was an upset, the Thistles ranking as strong contenders for second-half honors.

The Wests now lead the league by a two-point margin over the Thistles, with the City tied, two points behind Esquimalt, in fourth place, the same margin back of the City.

Players in both matches Saturday were forced to struggle through a sea of mud and water. Conditions were at their worst this season and good football was impossible. However, in both matches, the few fans who braved the elements witnessed hard-fought fixtures.

Doug Peden Leads Blue Ribbons To Sensational Win

Scores Sixteen Points in 38 to 34 Victory Over McKays Giants, Seattle

BIG CROWD SEES CLEVER DISPLAY

A dashing, tearing young colt by the name of Doug Peden, who displayed the fighting spirit that makes real champions, led the Blue Ribbons, Canadian basketball champions, to a sensational 38 to 34 victory over McKay's Giants, Seattle, in the exhibition basketball tilt at the Victoria High School on Saturday evening.

The game drew the largest crowd of the season and the several hundred fans were kept on their toes all the way by the killing pace set by the clever squads. It was the best game of the season and a sweet victory for the local champs. In the preliminary the Deals nosed out the Young Blue Ribbons 26 to 24.

Peden, who usually plays guard, was moved up onto the front line in the second half, and he literally tore holes in McKay's defense to garner himself the fine total of sixteen points and grab off the scoring honors for the evening. Peden was the spear-head of the Ribbons' attack and in the last few minutes he was dropping baskets just about as fast as the scorer could record them. The victory was all the more sweet for the Ribbons by the fact that they were forced to come from behind to win.

TEAM OF GIANTS

McKays lived up to advance reports as to their size, all their men being well over the six-foot mark. As a matter of fact, Art and Chuck Chapman, of the Ribbons, who are no small men by any means, were dwarfed by several of the visitors. One of the most noticeable features of the visiting players was the fact that it was easy to see a number of them have been developed and possess little natural ability. The outstanding member of the McKays was Heamans, smooth-working guard, who was responsible for two of their points.

Although McKays had the advantage of the tip-off they were unable to combat the break-breaking attack of the Ribbons. The first half ended 14 to 4 to 4. He duplicated the effort seconds later and McKays went ahead. Peden broke in the clear again for another basket and Art Chapman earned a long shot to put the Ribbons up 8 to 6 Spencer-Winter.

At the start of the second quarter McKays substituted Jack Caddell for Robertson, the latter having missed a number of set-ups in the opening period. McKays put on Gray for S. Antonich. Two smart baskets by Martin and Peden gave the Ribbons a six-point margin. Gray dropped through a deceptive shot from the side and McKays called time out. The Ribbons continued to hold the upper hand and Caddell scored one free shot and when he missed the second Art Chapman battled in the rebound for a valuable two points.

VICTORIES TAKE LEAD
At this stage McKays appeared to hit their stride and baskets by Heamans, Gray and M. Antonich put McKays in front, 17 to 15, at the half-way mark. McKays opened the second half with a basket and a free throw by Heamans and a basket by P. Antonich gave them a 20 to 15 margin. Martin scored two free throws to bring the Ribbons up to seventeen, but Heamans discounted with a pretty basket. The same player added another from the side, while two baskets by Gray gave McKays a 28 to 17 lead. The Ribbons battled back and C. Chapman scored a free throw, while Martin and Peden both made rebounds good for baskets. Seattle called time out with the board tied 28 to 22 in their favor. Art Chapman brought the crowd to its feet with a one-hander from the edge of the court. C. Chapman made it 28 to 26, while Heamans added another point for McKays as the quarter ended.

With the opening of the third quarter the Ribbons' defense held their own drive. Three points by Art Chapman in the first three minutes tied the score at 29 to 29. At this point McKays took the lead, 31 to 29.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—Berlin skating club yesterday evening handed Saskatoon Quakers, last year's Allan Cup runners-up, the first defeat of their European tour, winning an exciting hockey game 3 to 1. Quakers Saturday night downed the Berliners 2 to 0.

Goals in Saturday night's encounter were scored by Tom Dewar and Elmer Piper, both defensive players. Experts said the Berlin team was stronger than that which will represent Germany at the international hockey tournament next month in Milan, Italy.

Finds Loveliness Comes From Within

Beauty at Fifty Comes From the Soul, Not the Cold Cream Jar—Whether You Are Attractive or Hideous Depends Entirely Upon the Intelligence and Kindness You Have Built Through the Years

IT HAS been said that we make our faces by the time we are fifty. That is a doctrine to which most women not only subscribe but which they earnestly and assiduously try to put into practice, as is proved by the fact that every beauty shop in the land is filled with women laboriously and painfully trying to make themselves over according to their hearts' desire.

The trouble with them, however, is that they go about it in the wrong way. They begin at the wrong end. They pin their faith to facials and permanent waves and plucked eyebrows and vanishing creams and tissue builders and rouge and lipstick, which are all well enough in their way (and certainly the onlooker is bound to call down heaven's blessings on those who make lilies and roses bloom on sallow cheeks and turn lanky, ash-colored hair into golden ringlets), but that is not enough. It isn't even the way to be beautiful when you are fifty.

A peaches-and-cream complexion and a slim figure may constitute pulchritude in a young girl and make her attractive because we don't expect anything of her except to be easy on our eyes. We don't look for any profound depths of character in her, or expect her to be an exciting conversationalist. It is enough if she is pretty.

But no amount of cosmetics nor hair dye nor banting can make an old woman beautiful. When she starves herself to thinness, she becomes merely a rattling rack of bones. The more calamine she slaps on her countenance, the more she emphasizes her defects. Every painted-up old woman is a ruin advertising her loss of youth and good looks.

By the time a woman is fifty her beauty has to come out of her soul instead of a cold cream jar, and whether she is attractive or unattractive depends altogether on the way she has lived. For it is literally true that at middle age we have made our faces what they are.

The woman who has been selfish and peevish has got little fretful lines about her eyes that no maseuse can rub out. The woman who has spent thirty years in nagging her husband and children has acquired a set to her mouth that no surgeon can lift. The woman who has been too indolent to read or think or keep up with what was going on in the world has acquired a dull, dumb look that no clothes or makeup can camouflage.

Many a woman who was a beauty in her youth is hideous in age because she is so sour and disgruntled looking, or because her expression shows how mean and little and tyrannical she is, or because she is so stupid in appearance.

And many a woman who was a homely girl is beautiful when she is old because her face is so tender and sweet and filled with love and kindness, or because she looks so alert and alive, so filled with intelligence, so overflowing with humor and interest in everything.

All of us know old women who are grey-headed and fat or skinny, with never a good feature to bless themselves with, who are yet beautiful just because of their sheer goodness. Their souls are like a strong light shining through an alabaster vase that illuminates their flesh and gives it a quality of loveliness that mere youth and prettiness never have.

No really intelligent woman, no woman who reads and thinks and is on her mental tiptoes, who is entertaining and amusing to talk to, is ever homely. It was said of Madame De Stael that she talked herself into beauty, and many a woman past fifty does that. For we do not care how many birthdays the spellbinder has had, nor what the shape of her eyes, nor if her complexion is a gift of God or a purchase from the corner drugstore. She has us hypnotized and we can see her only through the magic that she conjures up for us. Many men cease to see beauty in a living picture, but they never weary of the fascinations of the woman who has always something new and thrilling to tell.

When I have been in countries where the great mass of the women are given no education, and I have watched what dull, sodden, hideous hags the women turned into as soon as their first youth was passed, I have thought that it paid to light the fires of intelligence in women's minds just for the sake of making them better looking, if for no other reason. A new thought, a new idea, will brighten a woman's eyes more than all the kohl that was ever rubbed around them.

So it is true that we make our faces by the time we are fifty. Our thoughts and emotions are sculptors that model our features and carve the lines of expression that make us either beautiful or ugly to the beholder.

At twenty it is our bodies we show. At fifty it is our souls, and they are what we have made them. There is no prettifying them if they are warped and distorted and flabby and wrinkled. No concealing their ugliness under cosmetics. No hiding their age! If one has grown narrow and prejudiced under any synthetic bloom of youth, for Dr. Mayo says that the only way to keep young is to have new thoughts.

How important then, if we wish to be beautiful when we are old, that we make the face that we are to have when we are fifty out of kindness and love and intelligence.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

POLITICAL PRISONERS OF ANCIENT CHINA SOMETIMES WERE PUT TO DEATH BY BEING WRAPPED IN A FRESH RHINOCEROS HIDE, WHICH CONTRACTED AS IT DRIED, AND CRUSHED ITS VICTIM.

HOG BRISTLES WERE USED AS SPRINGS IN WATCHES OF EARLY TIMES.

MOUNT CANIGON, 157 MILES WEST OF MARSEILLES, FRANCE, AT TIMES CAN BE SEEN BY RESIDENTS OF THAT CITY. ALTHOUGH THE MOUNTAIN IS ACTUALLY BELOW THE HORIZON, REFRACTION OF LIGHT RAYS CAUSES THE CURIOUS PHENOMENON.

A straight line running from Marseilles to Mount Canigon would pass 400 feet beneath the surface of the Mediterranean Sea. But twice each year, during February and October, the sun sets directly behind Mount Canigon, and at these times, the mountain can be seen in silhouette from Marseilles.
